Player Dev. Philosophy

DEVELOPMENT PHILOSOPHY: We strive to create a fun and competitive environment for each individual player to develop Character, Intelligence, and Soccer Ability during all club activities.

The specific age-appropriate traits we work to develop are contained in the Washington Timbers FC Key Player Qualities.

COMPETITIVE PHILOSOPHY: We want our players to have fun competing together. We will push our teams to win at appropriate levels of competition under conditions that support each player's development.

COACHING PHILOSOPHY: Our coaches are leaders, guides, and teachers. We model behavior, support players through challenges, and provide ideas, solutions, and demonstrations to help players find success.

TEACHING PHILOSOPHY: Our coaches work to facilitate development by creating a game-like environment in training and a healthy competitive environment in games that allows each player to make soccer decisions under realistic pressure and to learn from those decisions without fear of failure.

Every coach and team are different. Our club provides appropriate guidelines for coaches in different age groups and levels of play to use when making decisions about playing time, positions, and other ingame decisions.

OUR SOCCER IDENTITY

CHARACTER

We are passionate about soccer.

We respectfully compete with confidence and resilience from whistle to whistle.

INTELLIGENCE

We are leaders on the field.

We are intelligent soccer players prepared to make creative decisions at game speed.

EXECUTION

We execute with speed.

We control the game by possessing the ball with a purpose to create chances, we finish chances, we press to frustrate our opponents, and we take pride in our defending structure.

Development Philosophy

DEVELOPMENT PHILOSOPHY: We strive to create a fun and competitive environment for each individual player to develop Character, Intelligence, and Soccer Ability during all club activities.

The specific age-appropriate traits we work to develop are contained in the Washington Timbers FC Key Player Qualities.

Development is one of our club's Core Values. We must consistently evaluate the environments that we create to make sure that all of our players are provided the opportunity to develop. General guidance:

-Know the players. Where did they start? What are their strengths? What areas do they need to improve? Where are they going? How are we guiding them there?

-Explore opportunities to meet the needs of the top players on your team by playing up in age or level, or with the opposite gender.

-Provide clear, written, and verbal individual feedback.

-Engage families in understanding the individual players development path.

Competitive Philosophy

COMPETITIVE PHILOSOPHY: We want our players to have fun competing together. We will push our teams to win at appropriate levels of competition under conditions that support each player's development.

Fun is one of our club's Core Values. We all share the responsibility to create an environment in training and on game days that allows our players space to enjoy competition while also learning how to win. Our talent pool often provides us the opportunity to win games at all levels of competition. General guidance:

- -Superior preparation, leadership, and teamwork lead to wins. Otherwise the wins come from superior talent.
- -Instilling a desire to win is part of development but should not come at the expense of other aspects of development.
- -Reflect on preparation, leadership, and team performance.
- -Compete with maximum effort in every game.
- -Celebrate wins respectfully.

Coaching Philosophy

COACHING PHILOSOPHY: Our coaches are leaders, guides, and teachers. We model behavior, support players through challenges, and provide ideas, solutions, and demonstrations to help players find success.

This is the same for every age group. It is a philosophy that guides coaches as they make age and level appropriate decisions. General guidance:

- We should provide solutions instead of displaying frustration.
- We should provide constructive feedback instead of criticizing actions.
- We should demonstrate solutions instead of highlighting failure.

Coaching Philosophy

What are we really trying to say? What impact do we actually want to have on player performance?

Fix the language, plan for development, address accountability:

"We've worked on this a million times!" or "We worked on this last week!"

"You keep giving the ball away!"

"Why are you in the wrong position?"

"Stop kicking it over the goal/straight at the keeper!"

Teaching Philosophy

TEACHING PHILOSOPHY: Our coaches work to facilitate development by creating a game-like environment in training and a healthy competitive environment in games that allows each player to make soccer decisions under realistic pressure and to learn from those decisions without fear of failure.

This is the same for every age group. It is a philosophy that guides coaches as they make age and level appropriate decisions. We will provide more specific age and level appropriate guidance within our methodology resources. General guidance:

- -Small sided games that increase in complexity as level and age increases
- -Functional and tactical input increases as level and age increases
- -Physical periodization begins as players begin to reach PHV
- -Set piece training
